Rio Grande do Norte

Rio Grande do Norte with 365 days of sunshine a year and an average temperature of 26c is one of Brazil's most privileged and popular states. Rio Grande do Norte has many kilometres of beautiful coastline some 400km in total, but also Rio Grande do Norte is blessed with some of the most beautiful beaches in Brazil like Pium and Cotovelo in the south and to the North separated by the river Potengi and Natal you have the wonderful beaches of Redinha and Genipabu with their shifting dunes, warm clear waters, lakes and coconut groves which attract both Brazilian and foreign tourists all year around.

In these areas of Rio Grande do Norte you will also come across what the currently booming Brazil property market has to offer those wanting to invest in off plan Brazilian property developments in Rio Grande Do Norte, like the great beachside resorts of Touros Beach Resort, Jacuma Beach Resort, Praia Bonita Beach & Lagoon Resort all of which hold their own unique and outstanding resort qualities. For spectacular views from the glass covered viewing terrace and jacuzzi's on the roof why not look at the Jacques Cousteau Residence in downtown Natal.

Despite all this beautiful coastline tourism in Rio Grande do Norte only really came about in the 1980's with the construction in the state capital Natal of the Via Costeira, an eight kilometre avenue running along the coast where the city's main hotels and restaurants are situated. Since that time the government has been investing heavily in Rio Grande do Norte infrastructure, tourism and natural heritage. One of Rio Grande do Norte's other claims to fame is its inclusion in the Guinness Book of Records cashew tree which is a 92 year-old tree which is to be found on the beach at Pirangi do Norte, which is some 24 kilometres from Natal, is the world's largest cashew tree it has a circumference of some staggering 500 metres! occupying an area of about 7,300 m². Its branches are equivalent to 70 cashew trees yet it is just one single tree.
